VOLUNTEER RECOGNITION
A YEAR-ROUND RESPONSIBILITY

The following list provides lots of ideas at a glance for recognizing your volunteer’s year-round as well as during National volunteer Week. It is reprinted with permission from a recently revised handbook entitled From Here To There, published by the Volunteer Action Center of the United Way in Dayton, Ohio.

A volunteer’s pay is recognition and the assurance that he/she is an equal partner of the agency or organization. Recognition, therefore, should be an integral part of the management process so that people feel valued and good about themselves and their organization.

WHEN TO RECOGNIZE VOLUNTEERS

1. At the time they sign up to volunteer:
   - Send letter of welcome
   - Issue I.D. card, name tags, uniform, etc.
   - Provide an orientation program
   - Provide a parking space, lunch, coffee and/or mileage reimbursement
   - Provide good job descriptions, training and supervision
   - Publish name of new volunteer in employee newsletter and/or volunteer newsletter

2. Daily or weekly:
   - Smile!
   - Informal thank-you by staff and volunteer coordinator
   - Document their time for evaluation
   - On the job praise

3. Monthly:
   - Volunteer of the Month
   - Appropriate evaluations
   - Articles in newsletters

4. Annually:
   - Special events where awards are given, such as a dinner, luncheon, reception, coffee or dinner dance.
   - Certificates, plaques and other awards for time spent volunteering
   - Gift of photo of volunteer at work or receiving award
   - Volunteer Appreciation Day- use facilities free of charge
   - “Turn-about” lunch - staff serves volunteers
   - Holiday parties
   - Teenage pizza party
5. At the completion of a special project:
   - Say “thank you”
   - Send letter of thanks to volunteers and/or their boss or school or staff supervisor
   - Write article for newspaper or in-house publication about project.
   - Take out to lunch or for a coffee break
   - Promote to another job; give more responsibility

6. At meetings with staff or groups:
   - Tell about volunteer projects and individual accomplishments
   - Praise volunteers to others
   - Have a slide show or film showing volunteers at work
   - Invite volunteers to staff meetings
   - Provide volunteers with outside training programs

7. On their birthdays or holidays:
   - Send cards
   - Have an informal party

8. When they are sick:
   - Send a get-well card
   - Call at home

9. At the time they leave:
   - Send a letter of thanks
   - Give a certificate or resolution of appreciation
   - Send a letter of appreciation to potential employers

10. During national Volunteer Week.
    - Be a part of the community recognition activities planned by local Volunteercenter

HERE TO RECOGNIZE VOLUNTEERS

1. Volunteer office or lounge:
   - Have coffee available
   - Have pictures posted

2. Hallway entrance to building or cafeteria
   - Have a bulletin board with pictures
   - Display posters

3. On the job:
   - Thank-you and smiles
   - Treat as an employee
   - Invite to staff meetings
4. At home:
   • Send a letter
   • Call

5. At school or business:
   • Send a letter

6. At church:
   • Announcements in bulletin
   • Encourage minister to talk about volunteering

7. At shopping centers:
   • Display banner or billboard

8. At main intersection:
   • Display banner or billboard

9. In all media:

   • Radio--news and public service announcements
   • Slide shows and movies
   • In-house publications
   • Volunteer newsletters
   • Professional journals or magazines
   • TV documentary during National Volunteer Week

10. City Council or Commission meetings:
    • Proclamation
    • Mayor’s Award for Volunteer Service
RECOGNITION OF STAFF WHO WORK WITH VOLUNTEERS

1. Thank staff members who are working cooperatively with volunteers
   - For special projects they worked on together
   - For using volunteer’s skills creatively
   - For using lots of volunteers
   - For taking time to supervise and train volunteers
   - For showing their appreciation to volunteers

2. Send memo to department and supervisor recognizing their efforts

3. Award certificate to department who most effectively uses skills and talents of volunteers

4. Invite staff to volunteer recognition events

5. Remember, with today’s budget cuts, some staff may feel “forced” to use volunteer assistance and feel negative toward them. Others may feel threatened for their jobs. Help staff to see the benefits of volunteer assistance. Staff may not have even thought of using volunteers and something new is always frightening. Use this “crisis” as an opportunity to explore new ways of doing things. Many of the most loyal supporters of volunteer programs were very skeptical of the idea at first. RECOGNIZING VOLUNTEERS

Recognizing volunteers is essential to keeping your ALA a happy place to work (not to mention keeping your volunteers!)

Here is a list of "small creative thank you:"

Volunteer “Goodie Bags” Ideas

Cinnamon Toothpicks: help you "pick out" your special qualities and skills.
Pumpkin Seeds: help you grow personally and professionally.
Peppermint: to thank you for your commit"mint" to your profession.
Bit-O-Honey: the sweetness you bring into the lives of those you touch. Tootsie Roll Pop: reminds you of the important role you play in your ALA. Laffey Taffy: to remind you that laughter is always the best stress reliever.
Banana Candy: to let you know that without you we would all go bananas. Candy Watch: to help you complete your many tasks with speed and accuracy. Satellite Wafer: acknowledges your talents are truly out of this world.
Candy Lipstick: Pride, commitment, teamwork - words we use to get you to work for free!
Smarties: to give you the wisdom to lead and the humility to follow.
Bubble Gum: helps you stick with it and complete any task or mission.

"Post-It" Recognition

Play the song "The Way You Do the Things You Do". Have pre-written post it notes with the jobs that volunteers have done through the year, the quarter, etc. Go around posting the notes on the volunteers who did the tasks. After a few minutes none will be without a post-it notes, and some will be completely plastered with them. This is fun to do, and the response will be favorable.

"Priceless" Volunteers

Have an ALA meeting specifically to honor your volunteer with the theme - "You're Worth Your Weight in Gold." Everything should center around money. Cut a 1" dowel rod into thin pieces, spray paint them gold and scatter them on tables to represent coins. Have paper cut in the size of dollar bills with the top piece of paper printed as adollar bill with different volunteers’ pictures in place of George Washington. (The pieces of paper underneath are left blank.) Then cut strips of paper to go around the stack and band them together. Spray paint bricks gold to represent gold bars. Set them on the table and place stacks of them on the backdrop, the podium, etc. Have bags made out of cream color burlap type material, filled with shredded paper, tied with gold cord with a painted gold dollar sign on the side. Have those on the tables asmoney bags.
Hawaiian Lei Rotating Award
ALAs rarely have much money, if any, for volunteer recognition, but they have many deserving volunteers. At each meeting, pass around an award such as an inexpensive Hawaiian lei and let the individuals recognize each other. For example, one month it is the "Jane Doe Award," where Jane Doe decides whom she would like to recognize. The following month it becomes the award granted by the last recipient. It is a fun way to build a team and let others help recognize each other. The group will really enjoy it!

Snowflakes
This works well for recognizing lots of volunteers in a single location. Using 4-inch white paper doilies, put the name of every ALA volunteer on their own "Snowflake" and hang them from the ceiling of the meeting place, the battalion classroom, wherever would be appropriate and approved by command. Add a poster that says "Just as every snowflake can add up to a blizzard, so every ALA volunteer's contribution adds up to a storm of activity. Thank you for your dedication!" It creates a lot of fun as each volunteer looks for their snowflake and also impresses staff and visitors with the extent of volunteer involvement. This idea could also easily be adapted for other seasons.

We Mint to say Thanks!
Buy a package of Lifesaver Mints and put them in a bowl on an entrance table where at your next ALA meeting. In front of the bowl, put a sign saying: "We Mint to Say Thanks!" It will be well received and is an easy way to show appreciation for everyone attending the meetings.

Volunteer Tree
Great Christmas idea! Create an ALA Volunteer Tree. To recognize your volunteers, take a picture of each one with a digital camera. Then print out the pics on a color printer and cut them into different shapes for the Christmas tree. Put a little glitter around the edges and then hang the pictures on an appropriately sized Christmas tree for all to see. It’s a big hit with the volunteers and you might catch them looking for their pictures and sometimes even moving them to a more prominent spot on the tree!

Kudos Korner
Great for ALA Newsletters! A Kudos Korner is one of the easiest and inexpensively ways for to recognize your volunteers. List the person’s name and what tasks they performed during the last month or quarter. Some examples: “Baked delicious cookies for the ALA Meeting!”, “Helped with content for the ALA Newsletter”, “Recruited a POC / Key Caller”. You can also put these on a poster board and displayed at ALA meetings.

10 TIMES FOR RECOGNITION
1. When they agree to volunteer
2. Informal thank you – always and at anytime
3. Monthly recognition (ALA newsletter articles, awards at ALA meetings, etc.)
4. Annual appreciation certificates at recognition ceremonies
5. At the completion of a project or a tough time
6. At meetings – Say “Thanks!” so others hear the volunteer being thanked
7. Cards at birthdays
8. Cards when they are sick
9. Recognition when they leave the ALA
10. During National Volunteer Week in April
Personalizing Volunteer Recognition

People exhibit three types of motivation to volunteer which includes: affiliation, achievement, and power/influence. By knowing why, a person is motivated to volunteer, you can personalize gratitude and acknowledgment to mean more to the volunteers receiving the recognition.

Quotes on Volunteering
These are good to send to volunteers in a card, write it on a balloon you give to them, etc. Have a beach theme and write them on a piece of paper rolled up and placed in a bottle – message in a bottle!

- Volunteers are not paid – not because they are worthless, but because they are priceless.
- In this world, it is not what we take up but what we give up that makes us rich.
- You have not lived today until you have done some-thing for someone who can never repay you.
- A human being is happiest and most successful when dedicated to a cause outside his own individual, selfish satisfaction.
- You give but a little when you give your possessions. It is when you give yourself that you truly give.

What’s a Volunteer?
There is a job to be done, could be lots of fun.
Just give us a call, and we’ll have a ball.
You must have a big heart.
It’s always a help to be sorta smart.
The money is rare,
but the rewards are big in compare.

Ways to Recognize Volunteers Everyday

- Put up a volunteer suggestion box or otherwise encourage your volunteers to contribute their ideas.
- Send volunteers to training and ask them to help train others.
- Accommodate personal needs & problems. This takes the pressure off.
- Be pleasant and smile.
- Post an honor roll at your ALA meeting and include volunteer contributions.
- Keep volunteers challenged with interesting assignments utilizing their talents. If they aren’t doing something they like, they’ll leave!
- Provide childcare during meetings when possible.
- Take time to fully explain responsibilities and give them a job description.
- Hold feedback sessions and value your volunteers’ opinions.
- Create pleasant surroundings. Have an ALA volunteer meeting in your home or at the LETRA Lodge.
